

Pacific White-Sided Dolphin

The pacific white-sided dolphin is a cool sea creature.

By Owen

Habitat

Pacific white-sided dolphin lives in the Pacific Ocean. They live in off shore waters and in shore waters.

Size

This is how big and heavy a pacific white-sided dolphin can get. A pacific white-sided dolphin grows up to 6-8 feet. It can weigh as much as 84-150 kg.

It can also grow 1.8-2.4 meters. It can grow to approximately 185-330 pounds.

Diet

A diet is what a pacific white-sided dolphin eats. They eat squid. Pacific white-sided dolphins also eat sardines and salmon. They eat hake too. Pacific white-sided dolphins eat octopus too. They also eat anchovies.

Life Cycle

This is the pacific white-sided dolphin life cycle. Pacific white-sided dolphins will nurse their calves 8-10 months. Females give birth approximately every 4.5years too.

Babies

Babies are a small animal. A baby for the Pacific white-sided dolphin. A calf for the Pacific white-sided can weigh 15kg. A female will nurse her calf for 8-10 months.

Predators

Here are some predators for the pacific white-sided dolphin. Sharks and orcas are the only predators for the pacific white sided dolphins.

Interesting Facts

Here are some interesting facts. All dolphins have a thick layer of fat called blubber.

Pacific white-sided dolphins also swim with sea lions! Pacific white-sided dolphins can live up to 45 years too. They are small whales. All dolphins have smooth rubbery skin too.

I love dolphins

