

TODD PART ART RUBRIC

What Does It Look Like?
C+	B	A
I can do it occasionally (sometimes) I can do it with 1-on-1 help	I can do it usually (most of the time) I can do with prompts (hints)	I can do it consistently (all of the time) I can do it independently (on my own)
The characters in my artwork meet some of the aspects of the criteria for drawing in Todd Parr-style. My artwork is done with some attention to detail. I may have gotten a little judgmental of the characters in my work. I might have shied away from fully exploring social-emotional aspect of this work. My speaking and thinking bubbles were a little off-track for my “It’s okay to…” statements and/or I got a little silly. You might have to squint to figure out how I am feeling in my drawing. My setting is a little unclear and/or I added too much detail. My use of color is inconsistent or messy. My fine-lining might be a little messy. I may have forgotten to think about balancing the composition of my page. I might have rushed a little.	The characters in my artwork meet most of the aspects of the criteria for drawing in Todd Parr-style. My artwork is done with attention to detail. My work presents its characters without judgement. I made a good effort at embracing the social-emotional aspect of this work and created “It’s okay to…” statements that address real-life vulnerabilities. My speaking and thinking bubbles suit the “It’s okay to…” statements I was working with. You can read the emotion on my face in my drawing. My setting meets the criteria for Todd Parr-style. My use of color is consistent. My fine-lining is neat. My page is balanced. I took my time.	The characters in my artwork fully meet all aspects of the criteria for drawing in Todd Parr-style. My artwork is done with precision and attention to detail. My work celebrates the diversity of the characters it depicts. I fully embraced the social-emotional aspect of this work and created honest and powerful “It’s okay to…” statements that might empower myself and/or others. My speaking and thinking bubbles are empowering. The emotion on my face in the drawing is instantly recognizable and powerful. My setting is clearly conveyed with precision and meets the criteria for Todd Parr-style. My use of color is consistent and effective. My fine-lining is precise. My page is effectively balanced. I took pride in my work.