

Week of Monday, May 4 to Friday, May 8, 2020

Theme: Letter Party Time!

If you find yourself wanting some extra tricky jobs, here are some extensions to add to this week's activities!

Practice printing your letters! If you have a printer at home, print off the booklet from our blog. If you don't have a printer, use blank paper and make a road like this:

Practice your upper and lower case letters!
Can you draw something that starts with each letter?

After making your alphabet story video, draw your story! You can draw one picture to show the most important moment, or you can draw many pictures to show what happens first, then next, and finally what happens in the end of your story.

Can you make counting collections for all the numbers 1-10?

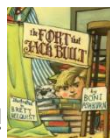

Celebrate Mother's Day by printing off the Mother's Day page on our blog! You can draw a picture in the middle of your mom.

Go for a walk in your neighbourhood. How many letters can you find in nature?

Can you make letters with your body? See how many letters you can form using your body! Check out Grover from Sesame Street try! https://youtu.be/Cm_b5Fylx6s

Check out The Fort That Jack Built on Epic! Can you make a story about your fort?
