Apples and Oranges

In front of you are three boxes, the first labeled "Apples," the second "Oranges," and the third "Apples and Oranges."

One box contains apples, one contains oranges, and the other contains apples and oranges.

Each label is on the wrong box.

Your job is to correctly re-assign the labels. You cannot see or smell what is inside the boxes. You are allowed to stick your hand into one box and remove a single piece of fruit.

Which box do you choose, and once you see that piece of fruit, how do you determine the correct labels for all the boxes?

TIME TRAVEL

You find a vehicle that can bring you back to any time and place in history. Where would you go first and why?
